Anne Korin is co-director of the Institute for the Analysis of Global Security (IAGS) and editor of Energy Security. She is also chair of the Set America Free Coalition, an alliance of national security, environmental, labor and religious groups promoting ways to reduce America's dependence on foreign oil. Korin focuses on energy supply vulnerabilities, OPEC, Africa, maritime terrorism, energy security, energy strategies and technological innovation.

Ms. Korin appears in the media frequently and has written articles for Foreign Affairs, The American Interest, The National Review, Commentary Magazine, and the Journal of International Security Affairs. She has advised myriad high tech companies, and has worked on a wide variety of projects for corporations including Exxon International (Esso), KPMG, and Goldman Sachs.

Ms. Korin holds an engineering degree in computer science from Johns Hopkins University and is working towards a doctorate at Stanford University. Ms. Korin recently co-authored Turning Oil into Salt: Energy Independence through Fuel Choice.

Aaron J. Scheinberg is the NJ Coordinator for Operation Free, West Point Graduate & Iraq War Veteran. Operation Free's mission is to secure America with Clean Energy.
